CEC Expands Business to New York State with Launch of Albany Office

October 25, 2018

PITTSBURGH, PA — Civil & Environmental Consultants, Inc. (CEC) has launched operations in Albany, New York, through the hiring of several environmental professionals. Establishing an office in Albany is part of an overall corporate development strategy to expand CEC's business in the state of New York.

The initial focus for the office will be on providing environmental services to clients in the manufacturing market. David Stoll, P.G., a Senior Principal with the firm, will lead the office. Stoll is joined by Heather Fariello, Principal and Environmental Practice Lead; Derrick Gardner, P.E., Project Manager III; Tina Ovitt, Ph.D., Assistant Project Manager; and Adam Norvelle, P.G., Project Scientist.

Other elements of CEC's New York expansion strategy include working towards the provision of engineering, geology, surveying, and architectural services within the state, and a focus by the firm's existing office in Sayre, Pennsylvania, to develop and expand business in New York.

For information about the office or CEC's environmental services, contact David Stoll at dstoll@cecinc.com. CEC's Albany office is located at 331 Ushers Road, Suite 19, Ballston Lake, New York 12019.
